BIRD CHECKLIST

The birds recorded on this checklist have been encountered on Ruthven Park's 1500 acres since records began being kept in 1995. Species marked with an asterisk (*) have been banded at the banding lab during this period.

The intent of this checklist is to encourage birders to help us more clearly determine the birds that use the site - as a migration stopover, for breeding, and for wintering. To that end we ask you to count the birds you see and please leave a copy of your results in the receptacle in the parking lot.

This checklist can also be mailed to:
